HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 10TH, 1877.

A good illustration of the manner in which taxation is levied in China is afforded in recent issue of the Peking Gazette. His Excellancy Ting PAO-GHENG, the newly appointed Governor-General of Szechuen, in memorial to the Throne, moved thereto by the condition of the finances in his province, makes proposals for a re-arrangement of the salt monopoly system in the neighbouring province of Kweichow. It appears that, with the exception of the land tax, the only importaut source of revenue in Szechuen is that the trade in salt with Kweichow was very large and prosperous, but since the rebellion

Kweichow was converted into something like a desert by the Imperial troops, in suppressing that unfortunate insurrection of the Mahomedan population, and it will take many years to restore to it the shadow of its former prosperity. Meanwhile neighbouring provinces suffer from its decay. It seems that the arrears of revenue on the Kweichow provincial account amount to upwards Mr. Koss, to the value of $53, was continued from upon him for support, and ha looked forward in of a million tacks, the recovery of which is extremely doubtful, at all ovents for many years to come. The Governor-General wishes Depecke, J. Noble, W. B. Spratt, W. Manson, neither friends nor counsel to support his cause to relieve the Szechuen salt trade from its present stagnation, and obtain facilities for put in a statement which was read by the consideration of his case might lead to the conits freedom from lekin taxation. If he scheme now submitted with a view to ameliorating this state of affairs, consists in the establishment of salt agencies of the Szechuen Government at various points in Kweichow; and as the undertaking is to known regarding him, they were taken back to things it was for the prisoner to show that he be of an official character, care will be taken in that province to sweep away all the local imposts and exactions herotofore prevailing and his applications were accepted and filed by things which but for those false statements he at barriers controlled by prefectural and district officers." His Excellency further proposes that the province of Szechuen shall Siemssen and Co.'s office he heard of a rumoured charge against the prisoner. There were other nistry M. > It will be remarked from the telegrams published in another column that the Russians are intent on taking Plevna, the bulk of their army at Jantra having been sent thither. The Turks are losing ground in Armenia, the Russians having occupied Erzeroum and being now engaged in besieging Kars. The Turksare, however, busy raising reinforcements, and may be able to again turn the tide of war. In Europe especially everything is uncertain.

Yesterday being the birthday of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Royal Standard was hoisted at Government House, Head-quarter House, the Naval Hospital, and Naval Yard, while the British mon-of-war in harbour dressed ship. THE SMILE AND THE SIGH. A lonely Smile, which smiled in sadness. Once hailed upon the passing breese A new-born Sigh; which sighed in gladnose

To give a restless mertal case. The Smile and Sigh soon formed a union-A unlan everlasting, blost Whoreby, in brotherly communion, Each worked to give the other reat Thue, mutually their toils relieving, They lived in peaceful light and shade No potty jealousies conceiving-Of nought, not oven Death, afraid. And whon, with friendship still unbroken, Fate caused than for a time to part.

Each of the other kept a token. To prove the two were one at heart. For, smiling, the Sigh to Heaven was carried On angels' golden wings one day, While, sighing, the Smile on earth still tarried And lent its charm to lifeless clay.

Till then this world was often dreary, But since then (so the legend saith) Death's sigh gives Life unto the weary, Life's smile itself illumines Death. -Macmillan.

A TEST OF AFFECTION.

A certain young lady, possessing more than ordinary accomplishments for her class of life-being the daughter of poor but respectable parents-on the death of a wealthy her neighbours many warm admirers flocked around the hitherto neglected beauty, and there was no end to the overtures of love. Previous to the turn of fortune's wheel a young man of humble pretentions had been the lady's only suitor, but the knowledge of her wealth at once placed a formidable barrier in his way, and he contented himself with being a silent worshipper at a distance. Matters ultimately came to a crisis, and, in order to test the affection of her devotees the young lady caused a report to be circulated that the supposed fortune was through a similarity of name.
